Nota para madres y padres :

Bienvenidos al nuevo curso 2025/2026.

Tal como el año pasado, les proporcionamos este cuadernillo de actividades para Literacy.

Las actividades están directamente relacionadas con lo que se trabajará en clase

Por eso, es importante que no vayan adelantando la realización de estas, sino que sigan las indicaciones que les iremos dando a lo largo de este trimestre.

Muchas gracias por su colaboración.

Back to School

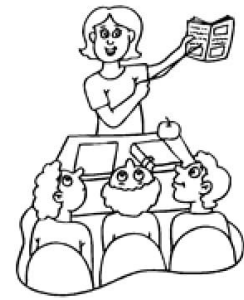

It's September once again,
Take your sharpener, crayons and pen.
Everything ready? Have a look.
Don't forget your reading book!
A pencil, a rubber, now your bag's full.
Put on your coat and get ready for school.
First we have maths with some difficult sums.
We can count numbers on fingers and thumbs.
Next there's a class about planets in space
Where we learn to put each one in the correct place.
In the literacy class we can learn how to spell.
Then we tidy our things up when we hear the bell.
Finished at last, we all go out to play.
Twelve o'clock is my favourite time of the day!
After playtime, the library is where we go.
There are books about everything we want to know.
In art class, with colours - red, yellow and green
We paint the most beautiful pictures you've seen!
Then we tidy our scissors, our crayons and our glue
When the hands of the clock point to twelve and to two!

Children from around the World

My name is David. I live in a small town in Australia. I don't live near a big city but there are lots of things to do here. I go swimming and surfing in the sea to play rugby and I sometimes go fishing with my dad. The weather here is very good. It's always warm so I can wear shorts every day!

My name is Natasha. I live in a big city in Russia. Our flat is tiny and we have to share the kitchen and the bathroom with our neighbours. In winter here it is very cold and it snows a lot. I wear a fur hat and coat to school. I wear boots, too. In summer we go to our house in the tree countryside. There I like to play outside and climb.

My name is Moktar. I live in the desert in Mali. My family does not stay in one place. We need food and water for our goats and camels. It is difficult to find food and water in the desert, so we have to move around from place to place. My home is a tent. I wear a white cloth round my head to protect me from the hot sun.

My name is Kathleen. I live in a small village in Ireland, far from any big city. We have a small house with a big garden. We have two goats and some hens. In summer it's warm, so I play in the garden with my pet kitten, Jess. In winter it's usually cold, so I sit on the sofa and watch television.

IRELAND

Ireland is a small country in the north of Europe. It is an island. Northern Ireland is part of the United Kingdom, but the rest of the island is an independent republic.

The capital city of this republic is Dublin and other important cities are Galway and Cork. There are also a lot of small towns and villages and some people live on farms in the countryside.

People in Ireland speak English or Gaelic and a lot of people can speak both. Lots of students from Spain, Italy and other countries go to Ireland to learn English, especially in the summer.

In the summer the weather is usually warm but it sometimes rains. In winter it can be cold and sometimes snowy.

Ireland is very popular with tourists, too. There is an important international airport in Dublin with connections all over the world. Tourists like to visit Dublin to listen to Irish musicians playing traditional Celtic music. They also visit Galway and some tourists like to spend time in the countryside to escape from noisy cities.

HALLOWEEN

Halloween is celebrated every year on October 31st. It is one of the oldest festivals in the world. It started a very long time ago when Celtic people celebrated New Year on November 1st. On the night before was the festival "Samhain" when people believed that ghosts came back to the Earth.

Celtic people lived in different parts of Europe, especially Ireland and Scotland. In those countries Halloween is still a very important festival, with parades and parties, but now most people do not believe in ghosts.

Nowadays people all around the world like to dress up at Halloween to have fun. They carve pumpkins to make lanterns to decorate houses, shops and schools. There are Halloween parties with prizes for the most original costumes. Lots of children dress up and go to visit friends and neighbours to ask for sweets; this is called "trick or treat". Typical Halloween costumes include witches, skeletons, vampires and monsters!

Dinosaurs and all that rubbish

Read the text and answer the questions, in complete sentences

At last, the rocket was ready, but there was nowhere to launch it. Everywhere was full of mountains of waste from the factories. The man took his rocket to the top of one of these mountains and blasted off for the star.

When he landed on the star the man looked around him. There was nothing to see. He walked and walked, looking for something to admire. But there was nothing. No trees, no flowers and not even a blade of grass. Sadly, he looked around, but the only beautiful thing he could see was another star, far away in the black sky. "I will go to that star," said the man, and he went again in his rocket.

On Earth the piles of rubbish burned, and the mountains rumbled. Far below the surface, the heat woke the dinosaurs that had been sleeping under the earth for millions of years.

1. Where did the man blast off to?

The man blasted

2. How many flowers did the man see?

DINOSAURS

Dinosaurs were reptiles that lived on land. There were many different types of dinosaurs on the earth millions of years ago. Some were enormous, others were not so big. Some were carnivores, others were herbivores. Dinosaurs dominated the earth for over 165 million years, but mysteriously they became extinct about 65 million years ago.

Here are two different dinosaurs that lived all those years ago.

The Brachiosaurus was a huge plant-eating dinosaur with an extremely long neck. It was one of the tallest and largest dinosaurs that we know lived on the earth. This dinosaur walked on four legs. Its front legs were longer than its hind legs.

The Tyrannosaurus Rex was a huge, fierce, meat-eating dinosaur. It probably lived about 85 to 65 million years ago. This dinosaur lived in forests where herbivores could find plenty of food. These herbivores were food for the Tyrannosaurus Rex.

Emperor Penguins

Amazing Fact

Emperor penguins can dive down to 565 metres underwater - the deepest of any bird.

Challenge

Read the information about penguins below and then answer the questions on the following page.

Feathers

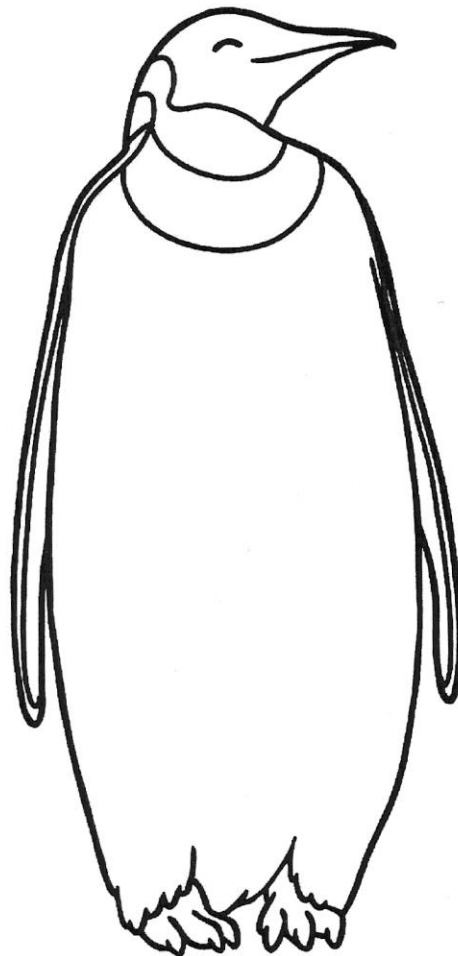

They have four layers of feathers which are waterproof and protect them from the cold.

Flippers

Their flippers are small but strong so they can swim quickly through the water.

Claws

They have strong claws so that they can grip onto the ice as they shuffle along.

Tummy

Their tummies are smooth, so that they can slide when they need to travel a long way over the ice.

Emperor penguins grow to 1.15m tall. They are the largest type of penguin and they can survive temperatures as low as -60°C ! (That's more than three times colder than a freezer!)

You could also try to find out:

- why the penguins dive so deep;
- what emperor penguins eat;
- how many different penguin species there are.

Read the text and choose a title.

a) Dinosaurs – Where are they now?

c) The life and films of Steven Spielberg

b) JURASSIC PARK
– a fantastic film of 1993

'Jurassic Park' was one of the most popular films in 1993 and won three Oscars. The American director, Steven Spielberg, made the film. It is based on a book by a writer called Michael Crichton, and it is about a scientific experiment which brings dinosaurs back to life. The dinosaurs live in a special park but they escape. They are very dangerous and they attack humans!

The film was soon very famous because it had incredible special effects. Modern computers created the dinosaurs and their actions. For the sound of the dinosaurs, the technical experts used the sounds of elephants, crocodiles, penguins, tigers and dogs.

The film was very popular and there was a dinosaur exhibition called 'Jurassic Park' in a museum in New York. Four thousand people visited the exhibition every day. This was the start of 'Dinomania', and now we have dinosaur toys, dinosaur models, dinosaur posters and dinosaur sweets in the shops.
